

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE.
FOR GOVERNOR.
ANDREW JOHNSON.
OF OREGON.

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 5, 1893.

A GOOD PRECEDENT.
We learn that the democrats of Wilson county have brought out as candidates for the Legislature Messrs. BARRETT and WILKINSON, young gentlemen of fine talents, and who will make a thorough canvass of the county. We hope to see this example imitated in all the strong whig counties. There ought not to be a single whig county left unconquered this summer. The whig party is dissolved and merged in know-nothingism and this fact is held up as a reason why the democratic party should be dissolved also. A recurrence to the old landmarks is therefore of the first necessity. The democratic Convention recommended the bringing out of one candidate for each office. In no other way can our party organization be kept up.

We shall lose a few professed democrats by this know-nothing trick, and shall gain rather more whigs than we lose democrats from this cause. We are in this respect, in the comfortable condition of the grocery keeper, who kept his accounts in chalk-marks on the back of the door. One day his wife, in a fit of cleaning up, scrubbed the back of the door, and obliterated the accounts. The old man was in a terrible fit for a while. But he commenced studying the matter and re-marking his accounts, and at length, rubbing his hands in great glee, he said that, on the whole, the accident was an advantage to him. He had marked down some accounts that he had been before, and on a good deal better terms. The whigs we gain are men who were always democrats at heart, and who have been unjustly in the whig party from accident and personal association. They look with horror upon the war of religious intolerance which the whigs, under the name of know-nothings, are endeavoring to excite, and abandon the party. The democrats we lose are men who never understood the meaning of the word democracy, and the party is well rid of them.

But we commenced this article only to express our satisfaction at the course of the democracy of Wilson county, and close by holding up their example as worthy of imitation in all the strong whig counties of the State.

It isn't the grammar of the Gazette, or the spelling, which we criticize. The best of us sometimes blunder in "the excitement of composition," and with no time for revising our articles. The best of us are sometimes do ourselves. But to write like this:

"Before us, like Falstaff's far-famed soldiers, troop the followers of Johnson. Roman Catholics and Protestants, under the discipline and training of democratic demagogues, arrayed against the intrepid band, from whose standards flag the stars and stripes, whose ranks number the true and the brave of whigs and democrats, the Protestant and the Catholic. In the distance is heard the faint murmuring of the American host. They come, silently but with the sweep of the tornado. We to the nation that stands in their way."

We protest that this is not good English, and undoubtedly it is not good sense. It is highly likely, such as boys ten years old write when they first begin to study the Gazette, and draw on fancy for facts. The Gazette must be better than this, or we shall be against displacing the Banner and the Whig as the organs of "pure Americanism."

The editor of the Washington Union has sent us a telegraphic dispatch from Harpers Ferry, Va., which says that the eloquent and argumentative speech of Charles J. Faulkner in that part of his district have produced a perfect storm among the know-nothings of that vicinity. On Saturday last eighty members withdrew from the know-nothing lodge at Harpers Ferry, and openly expressed their determination to leave the lodge. At the same time seventy-five more members stated that they would withdraw from the lodge at the next meeting of the lodge. The Union also publishes a dispatch from Philadelphia, which says:

The old line whigs who needed from the recent whig and know-nothing convention that afternoon and adopted resolutions denouncing recent political organizations, and recommending the entire separation of the whig party from the know-nothing party, have already succeeded in corrupting political action.

The True Whig will please recollect that the objects of know-nothingism that the "American Organ," Union and American.

What "higher authority" does the Union and American refer to—True Whig?

The "Blue Book" has come out. Here is the substance of it.

In the presence of Almighty God, I solemnly and sincerely swear, that if it may be done legally, I will, when elected to any office, remove all foremen, slaves, or Roman Catholics from office, and that I will in no case appoint such to office.

The Pope is still after the editor of the Gazette. The know-nothings held a meeting Monday night, and it is now confidently believed that the precautions against a sudden surprise and capture are so perfect that the editor is at present comparatively safe. We congratulate the community, with whom the editor is personally a great favorite.

We protest against the use, by the Gazette, of French phrases in its editorials. They are unintelligible to pure Americans, and their use is unbecoming in an "American" organ. It is like making a speech in favor of home industry in a suit of foreign broadcloth.

ATLANTA POST.—We were by the last issue of this interesting sheet that a half interest of the enterprise is offered for sale, the duties of editing and conducting being too laborious for the proprietor. This is a fine opportunity for some enterprising spirit, and whoever may be the fortunate one to fill the opening, to him and the firm we wish a continuance of the success that has hitherto favored the Post.—Cincinnati Advertiser.

SENATOR WILSON ON SLAVERY.—Gen. Wilson, the new U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, everybody thought, did us his abolition views, a few months ago, after his arrival at Washington, but this seems to have been a mistake, or else the General has reversed, for on Friday evening in the course of a lecture in Boston, he said:

"If there is not one here (said the lecturer) who believes that I am capable of opposing any measure which would tend to the perpetuation of slavery, I am not a member of this assembly."

THE EUROPEAN WAR.—The editor of the Washington Star has been private letters from England by the Atlantic, from the pen of a very distinguished English public man, who means for distinction are ample, wherein it is said that England and France have the ability and are determined immediately to send force enough to the Crimea to do away with the danger of a European war. The same letters assert, however, that the immediate and unconditional abolition of slavery, wherever it exists under the authority of the constitution of the United States.

THE TRAMP OF KNOW-NOTHINGISM.
We cut the following "blast" from the Gazette of Tuesday:

"Saw" Within the past few days, some subscribers, or some advertiser, occasionally drops into our office, orders his paper stopped, and his advertisement taken out, alleging, as the reason for so doing, our advocacy of the know-nothing cause. Of course our sympathy is not insupportable. Our paper is a paper that we can't stop. Let us however put a supposition to our subscribers. It may possibly serve as a check on the liberty of stopping the Gazette those who have taken it without their patronage? Are you a lawyer, a physician, a sign painter, or any other mechanic? Why forthwith, then, send a statement to the American organ, plentiful as leaves in Vallumbrosa, see fit to withdraw their patronage. Where you have, in your great wrath, cut us off from one dollar, you lose five hundred. And we are charitable. We do not expect you to do more. We want mention names. We only offer a hint which may be profitably considered."

We were really sorry to see so utterly indefensible a paragraph as the above in the Gazette. Attempts to alienate people who disagree with the doctrines of that paper into continuing their subscriptions to it, with the implied threat "the American organ" will retaliate upon those who withdraw their subscriptions, is a worse exhibition of tyranny on the part of know-nothingism than has before manifested itself here. We are ourselves occasionally vexed at the manner in which our paper is discontinued by persons who happen to dislike a paragraph in it; but were we to "threat" to the whig merchants of Nashville that they not take our paper, we should expect to lose every whig subscriber and advertising customer we have.

It is one of the worst and most dangerous features of know-nothingism that it can be wielded to the injury of honest men—Americans and Protestants—to gratify personal spite and spleen. It proscribes not only Catholics and foreigners, but its proscription of American Protestants who do not join the organization is quite as bitter as that of foreigners and Catholics. It is evident, from the paragraph in the Gazette, that it purposes using this power. The Gazette, judging from this "hint," has only to inform the "order," at its secret meetings, the names of such democrats as do not wish to read whiggery, and then they are to "lose five hundred dollars." The Gazette magnanimously (?) says that it will not tell on this "sign painter." It will spare him. But it asserts the power; and that is all we have to do with the matter now.

The Gazette ought to remember, in common justice, that a great many men—democrats and others, oppose to know-nothingism—subscribed to it when it was an "independent" paper. It suddenly changed its course and caught these men without a warning. And now, the "hint" is uttered that they must hold on, or their business will be seriously injured. Is this fair play?

That we may make sure of not doing the Gazette any injustice, we have copied its paragraph entire. If we rightly construe it, it implies the possession of power by the Gazette, through the know-nothings, to seriously injure the business of persons who have no subscriptions to the paper. It is monstrous that the Gazette is "charitable" disposes. If the power exists in the Gazette, it is monstrous that the "American organ," after denouncing what churches and what newspapers shall be supported, declare "the lawyer, physician, sign painter, or other mechanic" who shall or shall not be patronized. We have several times insisted that the "order" would run into this. It is usually but a step from the assertion of power by a tyrant to its exercise.

THE KNOW-NOTHING STAMPEDE IN VIRGINIA.
We stated a few days ago (says the Washington Union) that eighty members of a know-nothing lodge at Harpers Ferry, Virginia, had withdrawn from the lodge. The Union also publishes a dispatch from Philadelphia, which says:

The old line whigs who needed from the recent whig and know-nothing convention that afternoon and adopted resolutions denouncing recent political organizations, and recommending the entire separation of the whig party from the know-nothing party, have already succeeded in corrupting political action.

The True Whig will please recollect that the objects of know-nothingism that the "American Organ," Union and American.

COMMUNICATIONS.
A TRIP TO ARKANSAS.
Mr. Johnson—I promise several of my friends, upon my return from Arkansas, to give through the public press my views in relation to that part of the State I visited, which I now proceed to do. For more than two years I heard very flattering accounts of the country, and my expectations were raised so high that my friends said I would not be satisfied. I am happy to say, my most sanguine expectations were not only met, but I was much better pleased than I expected to be. The position of the State I visited and explored to my entire satisfaction, live in Mississippi county, some forty-five miles west of north from Memphis. On the river, county seat, immediately on the Mississippi river, eighty miles by water above Memphis, and about forty by land. Northwest some, twelve miles from Osceola is what is called Big or Grand Lake. It is twenty miles long and seven miles wide; one of the most beautiful sheets of water I ever beheld. The water is perfectly clear, with a firm sandy bottom and shores. The lake lies north and south. There is a beautiful river running through the whole length of it. This river comes down out of Missouri, and before it enters the lake it is called White Water, and after it leaves the lake it is called Little River. It is navigable for steamboats to the head of the lake upon an average five or six months in the year, which will generally be sufficient to carry off the produce of the country; but at any time it should fail, it will not be very far, to haul to the Mississippi. They have a charter for a plank road from the Mississippi, crossing the whole country, passing the lower end of the lake to Crawley's Ridge, beyond the St. Francis. Besides this there is a railroad laid off from St. Francis to Hopefield, opposite Memphis, and it is finished from St. Louis to the Iron Mountain. The balance, which is about eighty miles, will be finished in a short time. This road will connect the Great Central Illinois road with the Memphis and New Orleans road, which will be the longest and best road in the United States. This road will run a few miles west of the lake; so in point of convenience it will be unsurpassed by any country in the South-west.

There are three things there in greater proportion than I ever saw in any country, viz: land, water, and, I believe, health. It is decidedly the finest farming country I ever saw. The land is a very rich, sandy loam, perfectly smooth and level. I can put five thousand acres in one field and there shall not be one bud or ear in it. I have drunk water in the mountains and valleys, but I never drank as good water anywhere as it is universally in that country, and a healthier looking set of men, women, and children I never saw anywhere in my life.

A very strong inducement for people to go there is the low price of land. I am authorized to sell for the present by Dr. FOWLER, of Memphis, who has more than 100,000 acres there that was saved early at the very low price of $300 per section, one mile square, or 640 acres, and two acres can be cultivated there as easy as one here, and more can be made there in one year than in three here. It is a very rich soil, and Cotton will mature there sooner than in any other country further South, and there is no sand. The opinion is rising that the northern portion of the cotton region will be the best cotton country, not being subject to the same disasters as in the south. I bought a large amount of land there (not for speculation) for my children, and I expect to go out there this fall. I will have altogether 35 sections, or more than 22,000 acres. My father, my two brothers, and myself bought upwards of 90,000 acres. We all purpose moving there, and we want to get from 25 to 50 families to go, to form a good neighborhood, where we can have society and good schools. I am certain there are hundreds in this country that could greatly better their condition by going, but I would advise them to go and see for themselves, and the sooner the better, for land will not remain at present prices long. Take it altogether it is the finest country I ever saw and it is destined to be a great country.

A. D. ROGERS.
Mt. View, March 26th, 1893.

THE NEW ORLEANS CURRENTS.
STRENGTHENED OUTRAGE.—When the steamer H. R. W. Hill left the city wharf on Saturday evening, it was overtaken by a small schooner, which fired a shot at the steamer. The schooner then fled, and the steamer pursued it. The schooner was then sighted again, and fired another shot. The steamer then fired back, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a third shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a fourth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a fifth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a sixth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a seventh shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired an eighth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a ninth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a tenth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired an eleventh shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a twelfth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a thirteenth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a fourteenth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a fifteenth shot, and the schooner fled again. The steamer then fired a sixteenth shot, and the schooner fled again.
